

Pegah Yazdani is an active musician both as a performer and an educator currently residing in Toronto. Originally from Iran, Pegah showed great enthusiasm and talent for music at an early age, and began taking piano lessons when she was still very young; later on, she pursued her musical education in Moscow, graduating from the prestigious Gnessin State Musical College as a concert pianist, orchestra musician and piano teacher. Pegah taught at The Tehran Conservatory of Music and worked as an accompanist for The State National School of Music. In addition, she had the position of Director of the Course, Music/Piano Instructor and Examiner in BIHE University and performed in many concerts, both as a soloist and a collaborative pianist. In 2007, Pegah began her master's degree in Piano Performance in London/UK studying with Professor Michael Schreider and successfully graduated in 2008. Pegah participated in different music courses and master classes specifically in North London Piano School where she had the chance to meet and take master classes with world renowned professors from Russia and the UK. Since moving to Canada, Pegah has been pursuing her music career as a Piano Teacher and Performer earnestly and passionately. Apart being a performer and playing in different solo and chamber music concerts, she is an executive member of The Ontario Registered Teachers Music Association (ORMTA) and a certified teacher with The Royal Conservatory of Music, running her own piano studio and faculty at The Lane School of Music.
